THE GREAT TRASH MOUNTAIN — And some of its creators, are shown at Friday afternoon's wrap-up of Anti Litter Week at Elk Point Elementary School. The all-out clean-up campaign resulted in a much improved look for the school yard.

The big pick-up

By Irene Magnusson

Elk Point's Elementary School pupils have done their bit, using their spare time through the week of May 2 to May 6 to clean up the accumulated rubbish of winter from the school grounds.

Each group, from ECS to Grade 6, were allotted an area to 'tidy up', and given the bags to contain the papers, sticks, food containers--you name it--scattered about.

A season's throw-aways, together with whatever 'gifts' the winds added, made quite a pile. Since others than the students use the grounds on occasion, the rubbish is not all of their making.

Wouldn't it be nice if every one of us were more careful of where we toss or discard our bits and pieces, empty cans, containers and other rubbish, so the school grounds could look neat and tidy all year round?

The youngsters have cleaned up again. We cannot stop the wind from blowing--but we could give it less rubbish to carry along. And doesn't the schoolyard look GREAT, when it's all neat and clean?

Thanks, kids and teachers!

Council studies water, sewer rate hike

A proposed 40 percent hike in Elk Point's basic water rate charge came under intense discussion at Council's regular meeting Monday, with Councillor Allan Frankiw stating that the hike is 'too substantial. It would be too much of a shock for the consumers.'

Last year's $3 hike from $22 to $25 fell 'far short of its objective' of covering department deficits, Mayor Byron Mann noted. He added that consideration had been given to raising the mill rate instead of the basic water rate, but this could prove a deterrent to those wishing to improve their properties, and thus increasing their assessment.

The new water and sewer rate bylaw, which was given first reading at the meeting, also converts water consumption from gallons to cubic meters. The basic rate, formerly for 3000 gallons, will now be for 14 cubic meters, a slightly larger amount, while the amounts over that volume will be priced by the cubic meter. Under the new bylaw, the basic rate for 14 cubic meters will be $35, with $1.32 per cubic meter for the next 213 cubic meters, and $1.10 per cubic meter over a total of 227 cubic meters.

The increased rates are necessary to keep the water and sewer utilities self-supporting, and keeping them from being a drain on general revenues. Councillor Alvina Schuhmacher noted that the members of Council 'don't like the increase any better than anyone else,' but that they know that increased revenue must be obtained to meet rising costs.

The bylaw will be reviewed at Council's next regular meeting on Tuesday, May 24, and the public is invited to attend and express their concerns regarding the increase.

Other business which came before Council included a recommendation from the Utilities committee to take advantage of a quantity of oil which has become available for street oiling. Murphy Oil has indicated that they will supply and deliver the oil at their expense, with the only cost to the Town being for the necessary gravel and equipment. This would take care of a sizeable portion of the Town's proposed 1988 street oiling project at minimal cost.

Unseasonable as it may seem, Council also moved to amend the Town's snow plowing priority policy to include a pass of the Elk Point Hospital's emergency entrance when 50th Avenue is being plowed, to allow emergency access, at no cost to the hospital.

Health and fitness were both on the agenda, with proclamations issued by the Mayor for Canada Health Day tomorrow, May 12, Fitweek from May 20 to 29, and Sweat'n'Sneaker Day (Challenge Day) on Wednesday, May 25.

Further to the latter event, Council approved the temporary closure of 50 St. between 49 Ave. and 50 Ave. from 11:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. and from 6:30 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. on Sweat'n'Sneaker Day, to facilitate special Participaction events and activities to be held in that location.

Planned debate on the question of a by-election to fill the vacant Council chair was tabled until a full Council is present.

A Participaction challenge to all Elk Point residents

May 25, 1988, has been chosen as Participaction Challenge Day, to be known in Elk Point as Sweat'n'Sneaker Day. We have challenged St. Paul for the percentage of the population involved in Participaction on that day.

Who can participate? Everyone: children, seniors, the athletic and the disabled. Any activity that increases your heartbeat is acceptable. It can be anything, knitting to walking, jopgging, playing ball, etc., as long as it is of at least a 15 minute duration.

The businessmen, company managers, service club presidents as well as the schools are urged to encourage their employees, fellow members and students to take part in the challenge.

After participating in some activity, please phone the numbers which will be advertised next week and on the day of the Challenge, to register your activity. You can call any time up to 11:00 p.m..

On behalf of the Participaction Committee, I would like to encourage everyone to get involved and make this a fun time for all.

Chamber plans fundraising

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce reconsidered their 1988 Tourist Information Booth plans at last Wednesday's regular meeting, after being told of their failure to obtain STEP positions for this year's operation.

Several alternatives for staff funding were discussed. A matching grant for seniors' wages has been applied for through the Lakeland Tourist Association, but no word has yet been received on this. Another government assistance plan is also being looked into.

A unique suggestion came from Marshall Kachmar of the Canada Day Committee, who announced that between $3000 and $4000 is available as a federal grant for municipalities celebrating anniversaries. Since both the 50th anniversary of Elk Point's incorporation and the 50th anniversary of the Chamber fall this year, Kachmar felt that the two could share the funding and expand the Canada Day celebrations to July 2, with the Chamber hosting an evening function such as a beerfest. Advertising could be combined with that for the Canada Day activities, and other organizations have already expressed a willingness to provide a food concession and to help with the fest on a profit-sharing basis.

It was also suggested that July 2 would be an opportune time for a business promotion such as sidewalk sales, etc.

Plans for an event to mark Farmers' Day, June 10, were also set in motion.

Revision of the Chamber's bylaws is underway, with clarification of terms regarding staff numbers for calculation of dues, and the addition of a Bylaws and Regulations Committee to the roster. The new committee was approved and Sid Holthe appointed as its head.

Successful auction at J. F. Dion School

A fundraising auction was held on the evening of April 27, at the J.F. Dion School Gym, Fishing Lake, for the field trip planned for the week of May 30 to June 3. Students will visit the Waterpark at West Edmonton Mall, Jasper, Banff, go on to Calgary, and wind up at the Tyrrell Museum at Drumheller.

Donations of items to be auctioned came from parents, grandparents and friends, school staff, bus contractors, the Settlement Council, and several Elk Point businesses. The auction was conducted by Walter Skolarchuk and Joe Tourangeau who donated their time, and various items. Both agreed that there was "a great deal of very nice, clean merchandise for sale." Items ranged from a shed (8' x 12') to a new Cabbage Patch doll, to two .22 rifles, all sought after by keen bidders. Buyers could take a break and purchase coffee and sandwiches or donuts from the canteen in the school kitchen, which was run by school staff helped by some older students.

Viola Dumont, Counsellor Aide at the school, played an important part in the success of the function by soliciting local donations and picking up items to be sold. She also sorted and arranged items on sale day, making sure that everything went smoothly. Brian Tucker, science teacher, approached several Elk Point businesses and was rewarded for his efforts by receiving donations from each one. All requests for donations met with a generous response and an amazing volume of merchandise was accumulated.

The goal set for the auction was $450.00, but the generosity of those who donated or bought items brought the total to $1491.00, which ensures a safe margin for the Field Trip budget.

A heartfelt thanks goes out to all who contributed in any way to the fundraiser.

Room for improvement

Last week, they wanted us to clean up our yards, sweep our sidewalks, and pick up trash in our back alleys. This week they want us to do healthy stuff, like get our blood pressure taken. Two weeks from today, they want us to go out and Participact--what next?

How can we handle this? Our yards will be clean, we'll know if we're likely candidates for health disasters, and if we follow along, we could even get (I'll whisper this one) physically fit. What a shock to the ol' system!

Do you suppose they're trying to tell us something? Like, we need to clean up our acts in all sorts of ways? But we LIKE being couch potatoes--so what if we don't live long at it? The encroaching leaves, grass and debris from our yards will just cover us up, here in our lawn chairs, and no-one will be any the wiser.

Oh, okay. We'll clean up the yard, so the trash doesn't blow into the neighbor's bushes and cause a ruckus. Who has the ambition to argue? Say...this isn't so bad. It's kind of nice out here, now things are tidied up a bit, and there's that frisbee we lost in the leaves last fall. Catch, Rover!

What? You say we're exercising? Just playing catch, and wrestling with the dog on the lawn? Honest? Here we thought exercise was that up-down-touch-the-ground stuff Pooh Bear did when he split his seams and the stuffing came out. We never wanted that to happen to us, no, sir! So we've been card-carrying members of the Shapeless Inactive of Canada ever since!

Maybe this isn't so bad after all--and maybe we DID need a little nudge to get us going.

Are we having fun yet? You bet!

Whoopee.

THESE 'SHY LITTLE VIOLETS' — Bravely pushed up, along with a bit of quack grass, through the roadside gravel, over by the cemetery, but of course we killed it.

RNA Day on Friday

The Registered Nursing Assistants at Elk Point Municipal Hospital recently received the following letter:

MESSAGE FROM PREMEIR GETTY

I would like to take this opportunity to give my most sincere congratulations to the Registered Nursing Assistants of Alberta for their 41 years of bedside nursing care.

Alberta has a health care system of which we can all be proud and the important role which Registered Nursing Assistants play in it must be recognized. The dedication and compassion shown by the Registered Nursing Assistants is most commendable.

gratulate you, and thank you for your many years of service to Albertans.

Don R. Getty

In celebration of R.N.A. Day, Friday, May 13, the Elk Point RNA's and NA's will be holding a free Blood Pressure clinic at the Elk Point Co-op from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. You are invited to join them for coffee and muffins.

Has nature forgotten the steps?

By Irene Magnusson
Alberta Trails

There is something magical when Spring comes to Alberta! Step by step, each in its own order, the little magical ever-new events occur, almost imperceptibly, each thread criss-crossing until the tapestry of Spring has been woven.

It starts, of course, with the warming breath of the Chinook, and slowly the snow melts away. The pussy-willows show the first stirrings, and before long, buds are swelling on the poplars. One early morning we may hear the creek running, as the ice lets go, and floods of snow-melt boil down the waterways, ditches, cricklets and slopes. Another well-known noisy harbinger of spring is the "Cawing" of the crows, happy to be back in the parklands, their bright black wings slow-flapping, bringing them back to the lands of their birth (hatching?).

Gophers should appear, out of their winter dens, at about the same time as the crows arrive. Well before the grasses green up, along the sandy roadsides and southern slopes, crocuses are scheduled to poke their furry little snouts up through the ground, where they soon open out into our first flowers of spring. Almost at the very same time, the dandelions gather energy from their deep taproots and send out a little green ball, which soon flattens out into a bright golden bloom, lovely to look at, and the bane of the lawn-maker's heart.

I long ago concluded that Mother Nature had planned our spring floral display with a rhythm of purple/yellow/purple/yellow, etc., as the dandelion follows the crocus, the violets are next, then the buttercups, and buffalo beans, (yellow), and soon, the swamp violets and marshmarigolds - but there the rhythm becomes more complicated.

Roadsides should be outlined in white lace, as first the saskatoons, then pincherries and soon - chokecherries throw out their fragrant white blossoms, already the flowered avens, those little pink nodding blooms that never seem to develop beyond the bud stage, and look like little pink bells. These were over at the cemetery, but are found on many sandy southern slopes.

The leaves came "out," which is to say the first greenish cloud along the top of a grove of poplars, was spotted (by me) on April 28th, very early, as around May 8th is about averae for her. There are many more clouds of green around now, almost two weeks later, but they are really not bursting forth in a lusty manner. It's more like they are being 'forced' to show their faces.

The tiny blue violet by my garden edge, seen last week, is also early - and very timid. Six or seven clusters of buffalo beans pushed through the hard-packed soil at the road edge over by Adkins' place, and they may be the only ones we will see this spring, as the road sprayers have worked hard to save us from this terrible fate, and killed the most of them.

Down in the Armistice valley, where the new 'barren lands' stretch, last spring countless numbers of yellow corydalis (or dutchman's britches, as we used to call them) burst forth, to clothe the naked land, brave little plants with hairy leaves and small yellow flowers, short, spreading and kind, filling the space where wild roses, and so many wild plants once grew. The snows and frosts of late May last year wiped them out - I hope only temporarily - as they did so many blossoms, both wild and domestic. Nature tries so hard to heal the scars on its face, filling the bare patches with greenery and bright flowers. Only Man is happy with bald patches of earth, great gray acres of cement where grass once grew, scraped-bare roadsides which once were aflame with wildflowers.

Nature has not had much help this spring. The rains which usually falleth like the gentle breath of mercy from the heavens has been sparce indeed, so Spring has not 'burst' upon us in its usual fashion, but rather has tain of its welcome.

If Nature was, indeed, like humanity, I'd guess she was trying to punish us for our crimes, for the careless manner we have handled her gifts, for the waste and needless destruction of her generosity.

But Nature is not human, and punishes no one. She merely responds to the actions we have taken, and to the whims of climate around our planet.

We seem to be doing so many things wrong, and wastefully, without care for the future years. We are dismally slow to learn. Perhaps there are many things we cannot change, or do better, but surely we should do the best we can, and make use of the lessons we have been taught? No one but an idiot goes on making the same mistake over and over, even after they see the disastrous results of those mistakes.

No, I don't think Nature has forgotten the steps to take to bring us the glory of Spring, here in our parkland. If the winds of climate change, and the rains we need return, Nature will have all in readiness. Every hidden plant, every stored seed, will know when and how to burst forth. Every bird will remember his chirp. Rabbits still turn brown or white in season, as do the weasels. The nests will get built, the eggs laid, if we but leave them a twig to build on.

Even my dippsy-doodle squirrel is out there, rustling for her family, swiping the birds' seeds, looking for handouts - and why not?

I think the robins - possibly the same pair who nested in my tree last summer - are setting up housekeeping again somewhere close. They think I will protect them - and I'd be glad to - but I am not sure I can. The big hawks circle and swoop, high over the trees...there aren't many of them, but I'm sure it would take a lot of little robins to keep a hawk family well fed. Many more than I will have. So - watch out, mice!

And I will be watching for the next step - saskatoon blooms? - bluebells? - and hoping you have left a few clumps of wild roses for June bloom-

United Church Women meet

By Grace Pinder

The United Church Women held their May meeting in the church hall with Bea Williams and Margaret Rae hosting, and 14 ladies present.

The President welcomed the ladies and called the meeting to order, then asked the hostesses for the devotion.

The April minutes were read, as was the Treasurer's Report, and both adopted.

Correspondence was read, a donation was sent to the Alcohol and Drug Concerns, and we asked for further material on their work.

Heritage Books were once more ordered for our fall sale. Information on the Banff Women's Conference was circulated, and we hope some ladies will be able to attend.

Irene Miller reported on the Executive Meeting she attended at Wainwright.

A Steak Fry is being held at Camp Whitney on June 26 and August 20, at 5:30 p.m.. Proceeds from these help with the upkeep of the camp.

We decided to hold a Father's Day coffee party on Friday, June 17 from 2:00 to 4:30 p.m.. All you fathers, come and join us for pie and ice cream.

The kitchen stove and grill are now for sale. Contact any of the ladies if you are interested.

Don't forget to save your stamps and old glasses for us. The glasses are appreciated in the Third World countries, and stamps are sold to stamp collectors.

. The Rummage Store is now open. Check the notices for dates and times.

Please note a change of date for our next meeting, which will be THURSDAY, June 2.

April was Dental Health Month

A milk drinking contest was held at Heinsburg School, April 20, for students grades 1 - 9. Teams were made up of 10 students per team in the Elementary Competition, and 7 students per team in the Jr. High Competition. The competition was run in the form of a relay race. Prizes were given to the one winning team in the Elementary competition and one winning team of the Jr. High competition. THE SCHOOL ACT 1988

A Framework for our Children's Future

Alberta's new School Act focuses on the needs of students. For the first time in Alberta's history, all children will have the right of access to a program which addresses their educational needs.

The development of such important legislation involves many people and wide ranging points of view. The new School Act reflects an unprecedented process of open debate and the input of literally thousands of Albertans.

SOME KEY POINTS IN THE ACT:

- Children who are severely handicapped or medically fragile will be guaranteed a program focused on their multidisciplinary needs.
- Parents are recognized for the important role they play in their children's education.
- Through the province's general revenues, the provincial government will assume responsibility for ensuring equity in both funding and access to education programs.
- Both dimensions of the publicly funded education system — public schools and separate schools — are recognized in the legislation.
- A new legislative concept — the family unit — allows both parents in an interfaith marriage to choose to support either the public or separate school system.
- Those parents who have rights under Section 23 of the Charter of Rights and Freedoms, have those rights reaffirmed.
- The legislation strikes a balance between the province's overall responsibility for education and the local school boards' responsibility to deliver quality education to young Albertans.

The Government of Alberta is committed to maintaining the strong foundation of Alberta's education system. This legislation is the framework for its future.

If you have questions about Alberta's new School Act or would like more detailed information, please call 427-7219 or toll free to your local R.I.T.E. operator.

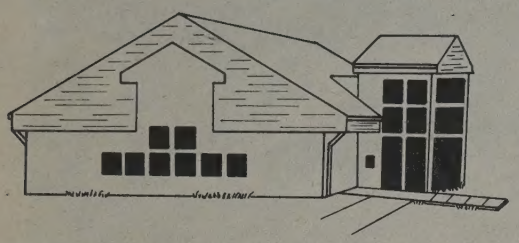
WHAT'S NEWS at the Library



The Elk Point Library has started a Memorial Fund. Anyone wishing to contribute to the fund in memory of a person who loved libraries may do so during library hours.

Last week a coffee party was held for our two PEP program workers, Daphne Schnurer and Diane Fraess, who have recently left our staff. We will miss them greatly and hope to see them around in the future. In their place, we have two new additions to our library staff from the SEED and STEP programs. Kris-Ann Maas will once again be running the Summer Reading Program as she did two years ago, and Michelle Whitlock, our new program coordinator, will be assisting her.

During storytime last week we were grateful for the assistance of Mark Boulter, of the Lakeland Theatre Company, in amusing the children. Once again, thank you, Mark!

Our Librarian, Doreen Mayner, and two of our board members, Adele Mandryk and Billie Lynne Milholland, attended the Alberta Library Conference in Jasper, April 29 and 30. They came back with a lot of new ideas to try in the library, as well as some very good books for the public. Some of these include Blaine's Way, by Monica Hughes, Nobody Said It Would Be Easy, by Marilyn Halvorson, and The Guardian of Isis, also by Moncia Hughes. These books were all autographed by the well-known Alberta authors, who also attended the conference.

Some of our other additions include Rivers of Canada by Hugh MacLennan and Storm by National Geographic, part of 'The Earth' series. Rivers of Canada is a non fictional book, which takes a new and perceptive look at how rivers developed in our Country. Storm, on the other hand, is an informative book about the disasters storms can create and the sources of these storms.

We also have some new children's books: Sky Full of Babies, by Richard Thompson, Midnight Money Van, by Allen Morgan, and Ben's Snow Song, by Hazel Hutchins. These books and many others should provide more delightful entertainment for the library's patrons in the future.
